

It sickens me that incumbent technologies can try to stifle a new and emerging technology just because it's superior. If NAB was so smart, maybe they would have come up with satellite radio. I'm sure if that were the case, all bets would be off.

I support XM 100%